THE UNIVERSITY OF LUXEMBOURG

Dear students,

By choosing the University of Luxembourg, you have opted for a young and dynamic university, where you will be able to actively contribute to its development. You are going to study in an exceptional setting.

Geographically located at the heart of Europe, Luxembourg hosts many European institutions and companies. To fully capitalise on this context, the University of Luxembourg is very internationally oriented.

Firstly through multilingualism: the teaching languages are French, German, English and Luxembourgish and most of the programmes are taught in at least two languages. Secondly, the University has made international cooperation one of its priorities, whether through the development of study programmes or mobility agreements and finally, on the many different nationalities among students and lecturers.

Mobility is an important aspect of studying and is part of your Bachelor programme: each student spends at least one mobility semester abroad.

Studying abroad enriches the academic curriculum, but also allows you to improve your linguistic and cross-cultural skills.

The Luxembourg Learning Centre is not only a university library with many different services for students, but also an inspiring place to prepare your courses and exams.

Our dynamic Student Delegation and our officially-recognised Student Associations ensure that students have a voice and are heard and that the offers in the field of student life are continually broadened.

This guide provides all the information you need about your university and walks you through the administrative formalities. We will give you useful tips to help you settle down in Luxembourg and start successfully in your study programme.

Welcome to the University of Luxembourg!

ENTREPRENEURSHIP

UNIVERSITY OF LUXEMBOURG INCUBATOR AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP PROGRAMME

Your place to...

... acquire essential skills to highlight your profile

The university curriculum you have chosen will provide you with the qualification to work in specific occupational areas. However, as competition is strong on today's job market, adding qualifications to your profile will bring you competitive advantages.

This is one of the reasons why the University of Luxembourg created its Entrepreneurship Programme. This Programme gives students across all faculties, regardless of their level of studies (Bachelor and Master students, doctoral candidates, post-docs), the possibility to participate in initiatives that train skills essential to be successful in their future working life while discovering entrepreneurship as a career path. Taking part in courses like Ideation Camp or My Big Idea competition can get you ready to build a business from ground up.

... discover entrepreneurship as a career path

If you decide to create your own company, the University of Luxembourg Incubator can offer you a broad range of services to help you in developing your startup. Luxembourg is a great environment to succeed with your own venture as the country offers a dense support infrastructure for entrepreneurs in the heart of Europe.

To allow you getting a good impression of what it takes to run your own business, the team invites entrepreneurs from Luxembourg and abroad to share their story and to provide advice to those who want to follow the same path. You will have the opportunity to learn from the best while building a valuable business network at the same time.

... get support with turning your entrepreneurial vision into reality

To be incubated at the University of Luxembourg means having your own offices on Belval and benefiting from a rich infrastructure. You will get access to a community of experts that help you take the necessary steps from registering your company in Luxembourg to engaging with customers and finding funds. Moreover, you are eligible for the Incubator's accelerator as well as its mentoring service that offers tailor-made support to ambitious startups by high-profile experts from the Luxembourgish startup ecosystem and beyond.

SUSTAINABILITY

LIVING SUSTAINABILITY ON CAMPUS

The University's sustainability team aims at further integrating sustainable development in the institution's activities and operations.

The University has identified six priority areas for the development of its operational sustainability (operations, functioning and campuses), constituting a compass for the development of activities and projects.

Raise awareness on sustainability!

We want to raise awareness of sustainable development issues within the University community.

We offer a range of tools to get more information:

- » The Sustainability LunchTalk series are short, interactive meetings. They help you understand and prepare for future transformations. We organise them for you, so don't hesitate to take part and ask the speakers questions during the Q&A sessions. Check your mailbox for the invitations.
- » The Sustainability Letter gives an overview of the University's sustainable development projects and actions through articles and interviews.
- » Various learning tools are available. Events are co-organised with SEVE. If you would like to take part in a Climate Fresk or "2 tonnes" workshop, get together with other students and let us know.

Sustainability projects on Campus

We don't just raise awareness; we also take actions. We want to build bridges and launch joint projects with researchers and students to integrate sustainability on campus.

Over the course of the year, we may offer a number of student jobs. We launch projects in accordance with our plans, but if you have a sustainability project or want some advice, you can call us or drop us a line to get on with the next steps. Waste management, sharing or repairing stuff, experimenting with permaculture ...

Whether you work with us to develop your idea, or we take it on ourselves, we are always keen to hear your ideas.

In addition, we're part of various professional networks and associations linked to sustainability. If you'd like to get in touch with local or national players, we'd be delighted to help.

The campus is yours, and we want to help you become part of its transformation. So don't be shy.

STUDENT MOBILITY

The University of Luxembourg subscribes to the principle of international student mobility, therefore Bachelor students at the University of Luxembourg spend a mandatory mobility semester abroad. The Service in charge of student mobility is the Bureau des Relations Internationales (BRI).

► More information: www.uni.lu/international

TYPES OF MOBILITY

Erasmus+

Erasmus + is funded by the European Union and enables students enrolled at the University of Luxembourg to spend a semester abroad at one of the University of Luxembourg's partner universities within Europe.

The number of Erasmus+ places is limited for each academic year, each study programme and each partner university: unilux.moveon4.de

Global Exchange Programme

The Global Exchange Programme is the University of Luxembourg's excellence programme that allows students to study for one semester outside of Europe.

The University of Luxembourg has signed student exchange agreements with universities from all over the world:

► unilux.moveon4.de

Free Mover

This type of mobility is offered to students who did not obtain a place with the Erasmus+ or Global Exchange Programme. This status enables you to spend a mobility semester at a non-partner university of your study programme. All necessary steps required to submit your application and organise your mobility semester will have to be done by yourself. This requires great autonomy and much motivation.

INFORMATION SESSIONS

You can meet the staff in charge of mobility during the Welcome Week (21st September at Maison du Savoir, 10am-4pm). We invite you to ask us all questions you may have on your future mobility project !

Compulsory information sessions for Bachelor students. We recommend to Master students who would like to do a mobility semester to follow these sessions as well.

► Find out more: www.en.uni.lu/international/mobilite

SELECTION PROCESS

Erasmus+

Bachelor

A call for application is sent out each year in March to apply for the summer or winter semester of the following academic year. You will receive the link to an online application form where you can select up to three partner universities of your choice.

Your course director will select applicants according to academic criteria (number of credits obtained and average grade).

Master

After your course director has validated your mobility project, contact seve.mobility@uni.lu before the end of March to submit your Erasmus+ stay wishes.

Bachelor and Master

Each year in Autumn, a call for application is sent out for the next academic year. You will receive the link to an online application form where you can select up to three partner universities of your choice.

Places for the Global Exchange Programme are very limited; selection is based on your application file and a personal interview.

Free Mover

No selection takes place. You need to inform the mobility office about your mobility project by the end of April for departures during the winter semester and by the end of October for departures during the summer semester.

FUNDING

Students can benefit from an Erasmus+ grant or a mobility fund, depending on the type of mobility semester undertaken.

Should you be eligible, you will automatically receive financial aid from the University of Luxembourg, no formal request is needed. Mobility semesters within the proximity including Nancy, Metz, Longwy, Trier, Saarbrücken, Birkenfeld, Arlon and Libramont are not funded.

The amount of the grant may vary depending on your destination. Financial aid may be combined with a grant from the Centre de documentation et d'information sur l'enseignement supérieur (cedies.public.lu). These requests are not handled by the University of Luxembourg.

EXEMPTION

An exemption from the mobility semester may be granted under certain conditions. Exemptions are not automatically allocated. You will need to submit a formal request to the contact person at your faculty.
